

Pastor Doug Seamon Bio & Ministry Pictures from Pakistan

Doug, originally from Pennsylvania, pursued his education at Bible College in Louisiana. In 1985, he and Pam tied the knot, embarking on a journey as full-time Evangelists for three years. Following this, they dedicated over 15 years to pastoral ministry. Pam, a Worship Pastor, has contributed to numerous music albums/projects. In 2007, they transitioned back to evangelism, founding Cry of Deliverance—a venture that swiftly evolved into an international initiative, emphasizing mass crusades and training conferences.

As an accomplished author represented by Cheryl Ricker and Dunamis Words Literary Agency, Doug has penned several books and study guides, covering themes such as Bible prophecy and the Lord's birth. He has conducted numerous crusades across nations like Tanzania, Nicaragua, and Pakistan, witnessing remarkable attendance, with some events exceeding 25,000 participants. While Cry of Deliverance extends its outreach to various nations, a significant focus remains on Tanzania, Nicaragua, and Pakistan, where the ministry has witnessed profound spiritual impact, true to its name—centered on salvation and deliverance.

In 2010, sensing the call to provide leadership to a U.S.-based church while fostering the growth of Cry's international endeavors, they resumed pastoral responsibilities. Currently, they lead Central: Church of All Nations in Maryland. These dual responsibilities—overseeing a local church and steering an international ministry—work synergistically to contribute to the expansion of the Lord's Kingdom on earth.
